Dear Community,

Since 2003, Silicon Valley Reads has asked the residents of Santa Clara County to read, think, and engage in conversations and activities about a theme relevant to our region. This year our theme is “Women – Making It Happen” in honor of the 100th anniversary of women’s suffrage in the U.S. Our featured books and programs celebrate the perseverance of women in pushing beyond the boundaries set for their gender and achieving excellence in fields traditionally dominated by men.

Our 2020 selected books are excellent and offer great reading opportunities for all ages:

• Alpha Girls by Julian Guthrie
• The Tenth Muse by Catherine Chung
• Almost Astronauts by Tanya Lee Stone
• Who Says Women Can’t Be Computer Programmers? by Tanya Lee Stone
• The Most Magnificent Thing by Ashley Spires

More than 150 free events will provide information, ideas and entertainment about a wide variety of women and their accomplishments – from the tenacious individuals who worked so hard to get women the right to vote in the early 1900s to the women inventors and leaders of the 21st century who are defining a new future.

Silicon Valley Reads 2020 celebrates and commemorates the collective action of courageous women in our society. Each of us has experienced the power of collective action – the opportunity to join like-minded individuals to accomplish a common goal. The featured books will help us build on a community conversation about the strength and courage necessary to fight for equity, diversity and inclusivity, and inspire our youth to do the same.

As co-chairs of Silicon Valley Reads and on behalf of our Community Advisory Board, thank you for your continued support and involvement with our program. We look forward to seeing you at this year’s events.

“Women Pathmakers” honors women whose courage and creativity helped change the world. Those featured include pioneer mathematicians, the first computer programmer, Nobel Prize winning scientists, civil rights activists, artists and musicians. Other artworks are inspired by the movement for women’s voting rights, displaced immigrant populations and the impacts on women and girls, and the invisible labor of women of color.

The public is invited to meet artists in the “Women Pathmakers” exhibition and author Julian Guthrie at a reception with music and refreshments on Wednesday, Feb. 12, 5:30 - 7:30 p.m. at the Euphrat Museum of Art.

On Saturday, March 7, the public is invited to a “Women Pathmaker Portraits” workshop. Make mixed media artworks featuring inspiring women pathmakers and their stories. Drop in, free of charge, with ongoing activities 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Euphrat Museum of Art on the De Anza College campus is open Monday - Thursday, 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. (closed Monday, Feb. 17, for Presidents Day) plus Saturday, March 7, 10 a.m. - 1 p.m., and Thursday Feb. 6 and March 5, 5-7:30 p.m. for open mic nights. Additional open hours by appointment. Check deanza.edu/euphrat/exhibitions for additional events.

Julian Guthrie and the “Alphas” reconvene for a second roundtable conversation, moderated by Barbara Marshman, former Editorial Page Editor at the Mercury News. Presented with The Tech Interactive.

Doors open at 6 p.m. for first come seating. No tickets or reservations required. Parking offered at two downtown garages for a flat $5 fee with validation: San José McEnery Convention Center, 150 W. San Carlos St., and 2nd and San Carlos Garage, 280 S. 2nd St.

For information, email SVReads@aol.com.
Alpha Girls

Alpha Girls is the untold story of pioneering women in Silicon Valley. Described as “Hidden Figures” meets “The Social Network,” Alpha Girls is the story of the real unicorns of Silicon Valley – the women who bucked the system and found ways to survive and thrive in this high-stakes, male-dominated world. The book explores the rise of such companies as Facebook, Tesla, Oracle, Trulia, Imperva, F5 Networks, Acme Packet, ForeScout, Salesforce and more – all through the eyes of trailblazing “alpha girls” of Silicon Valley.

“I can’t wait to share the inspiring, untold stories of incredible women who helped build some of the foremost companies of our day. I’m eager to talk in actionable terms about how women can succeed in male-dominated industries, how men can be great allies, and what this means for boys and girls who want to be next generation leaders and innovators.”

Julian Guthrie

About Julian Guthrie

Julian Guthrie is the author of four books, including two national bestsellers. As a journalist for 20 years at the San Francisco Chronicle, Ms. Guthrie won numerous awards, including the Best of the West Award and the Society of Professional Journalists’ Public Service Award. Her feature writing and enterprise reporting were nominated multiple times for the Pulitzer Prize.
The Tenth Muse

is an exhilarating, moving novel about a trailblazing mathematician whose research unearths her own extraordinary family story.

From the days of her childhood in the 1950s Midwest, Katherine knows she is different, and that her parents are not who they seem. As she matures from a girl of rare intelligence into an exceptional mathematician, she must face the most human of problems—who is she?

When she embarks on a quest to conquer the Riemann hypothesis, the greatest unsolved mathematical problem of her time, she turns to a theorem with a mysterious history that may hold both the lock and the key to her identity, and to secrets long buried during World War II. Forced to confront some of the most consequential events of the 20th century and rethink everything she knows of herself, she finds kinship in the stories of the women who came before her, and discovers how seemingly distant stories, lives, and ideas are inextricably linked to her own.

“The cliché that boys are better at math collapses before the diamond-hard mind of a grad student whose relentless attempt to prove a legendary hypothesis exposes a deeper algorithm about herself.... Captivating.”
— O, the Oprah Magazine

“When a mathematician also be an accomplished storyteller? The answer is an emphatic yes.... Elegant and absorbing fiction.... Her work radiates a love of the subject.... Her real subject, beyond the magic of storytelling, is the problem of identity, as shaped by gender, ethnicity, history and choice.”
— Chicago Tribune

About Catherine Chung
Catherine Chung is the author of The Tenth Muse and Forgotten Country, for which she won an Honorable Mention for the PEN/Hemingway Award. She has been a National Endowment for the Arts Fellow, a Granta New Voice, a Director’s Visitor at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, and the recipient of a Dorothy Sargent Rosenberg Prize in poetry. She has a degree in mathematics from the University of Chicago and worked at a think tank in Santa Monica before receiving her MFA from Cornell University. 11 a.m.
Presentation by Claire L. Evans
Women were part of every important wave in technology. You may not know their names, but their inventions and contributions touch our lives in ways we don’t even realize.
VICE reporter Claire L. Evans, author of Broad Band: The Untold Story of the Women Who Made the Internet, gives these unsung heroes their due in this insightful social history.

12 noon
Docent-led tour of the museum.

1 p.m.
Excerpt performance of world premiere of “Coded”
This play is about a woman on her way to being a leader in the gaming industry, until a competitor armed with a legion of Internet trolls launched an all-out assault on her. She counters with a hand-picked team and a plan to revolutionize virtual-reality gaming and dismantle the industry’s boys’ club – if she can keep the trolls at bay. The performance is followed by audience Q&A with writer/director Kirsten Brandt and the “Coded” actors. Presented with City Lights Theater Company.

2 p.m.
Docent-led tour of the museum.

2:30-3:30 p.m.
“Great Unsung Women of Computing” film
This trio of short documentaries show how women revolutionized the computer and internet technology we use today, inspiring female students to believe that programming careers lie within their grasp.
Part 1: The Computers, the story of the ENIAC programmers, six young women who programmed the world’s first modern, programmable computer as part of a secret World War II project.
Part 2: The Coders, profiles Sarah Allen and Pavni Diwani whose technologies revolutionized the Internet. Sarah co-invented Flash, the first multimedia platform supporting video, graphics, games and animation for the internet, while Pavni invented the Java servlet to allow web applications to respond quickly to requests from users everywhere.
Part 3: The Future Makers, an introduction to Andrea Colaco, a young MIT Ph.D., who shares her dream of a world in which we interact with our smart devices using natural hand gestures, not static keyboards or touchpads.
Celebrating Women in Tech
Saturday, Jan. 25, 2 p.m., Gilroy Library
Engineers and managers from Apple, Amazon and Keri Systems will share the pathways to their careers, who and what has been influential to their career, challenges along the way, and what they have learned from their experiences. Audience Q&A follows their panel discussion. Teens and adults welcome!

DAO LISTS:

Leticia Ambriz, Manager, Materials Program Management, Amazon
Veronica De Leon, Quality Assurance Engineer, Keri Systems, Inc.
Alla Shashkina, Senior Engineering Manager, Apple Inc.
Sue Swindlehurst, Principal, MTS Engineer, Amazon

Author Claire L. Evans
Claire L. Evans, author of Broad Band: The Untold Story of the Women Who Made the Internet, will discuss her book which was described by an Amazon review in this way:

“Fascinating and often moving, Broad Band sheds light on the true stories of women who pioneered crucial technological and social leaps throughout the history of computing. Much like the dedicated female mathematicians in ‘Hidden Figures,’ the women in Broad Band solved new and complex technical problems while also dealing with stifling social mores that kept them marginalized in the writing of the “official” history. Author and VICE reporter Claire L. Evans relates these stories with a candor and humor that matches the relentless spirit of the subjects. Broad Band is an inspiring and timely read for anyone interested in the digital world.”

Saturday, March 28

Sunday, March 8, 2-4 p.m., Los Altos Library

Students in grades K-12 are invited to enter in the Silicon Valley Reads Poster/Digital Poster Contest. The theme for this year is “Women Making it Happen.” Students will select one suffragist as the focus of the poster and conduct research on their selection, gathering credible primary and secondary sources about their subject.

A panel will select winners by grade span (K-2, 3-5, 6-8, 9-12) for first, second, and third place prizes of $150, $100, and $50 respectively.

For contest details, visit SiliconValleyReads.org. Entrants will need to complete the Poster/Digital Submission Form and submit digital files to include image of the work, list of resources and citations, between Feb. 24-April 10, 2020.

How long must we wait for liberty? Women’s suffrage and the enduring fight for equality

Silicon Valley Reads POSTER CONTEST

Leading Ladies Mini Writing Contest
March 1-31, Sunnyvale Public Library
Children in grades K-5 are invited to write 1-3 sentences about a woman who inspires you and why. Some entries will be featured in the library’s kids’ biography section.
Learning From The Lemonade Stand

For many children, their first business experience is selling lemonade to neighbors and passers-by. They learn more than how to make money – they are developing an entrepreneurial mindset and life skills that will help them pursue their passions and reach their full potential. These qualities include having goals, being determined, and handling failure with the right attitude.

This presentation for kids in grades 3 and up, and their parents, will be led by Brian Weisfeld, author of The Startup Squad book series, who started his first business enterprise in elementary school (selling gummy bears to his friends) and more recently held leadership roles at IMAX Corporation and Coupons.com.

Sat, Feb. 29, 2 p.m., Saratoga Library
Wed, March 4, 4 p.m., Morgan Hill Library
Sat, March 7, 3 p.m., Cupertino Library
Sun, March 8, 4 p.m., Milpitas Library
Sat, March 14, 2 p.m., Los Altos Library

“Most Magnificent Thing” Animated Short Film

Ashley Spires’ wonderful picture book comes to life in this animated short film version from Nelvana Ltd. and Kids Can Press. It has screened at several international film festivals and will have special showings at local public libraries as part of Silicon Valley Reads. The 22-minute film adaptation is voiced by Alison Pill, Lilly Bartlam and Tony Daniels with narration by Whoopi Goldberg. Contact your local library for date and time information.

School Programs

Silicon Valley Reads authors Catherine Chung, Julian Guthrie and Tanya Lee Stone will visit local public schools in February and March to talk about their books and writing. School visits are coordinated by the Santa Clara County Office of Education.

Through generous underwriting by Sonja Hoel Perkins, one of the subjects of Julian Guthrie’s book, Alpha Girls, every public high school in Santa Clara County received multiple copies of Guthrie’s book for students to read and enjoy.

Family Reading Program

FIRST 5 Santa Clara County will host readings of The Most Magnificent Thing for children under the age of six and their families at local Family Resource Centers in February and March, open to the public. The first 40 families in attendance at each event will receive a free copy of the book, in English or Spanish, to take home. For dates, times and locations, visit first5kids.org.
Celebrating Women Craft
Children ages 4-12 will create a picture of a woman into whoever they want her to be. They can draw in a profile, make their own profile, or make her sparkle with sequins. Materials will be supplied. For dates and times of this activity offered by San José Public Library branches, visit sjlibrary.org.

Feminist Icon Tote Bags
Sat, March 21, 3-4:30 p.m., Sunnyvale Public Library
Teens and tweens in grades 6-12 can create a free tote bag featuring some of history's biggest and baddest leading ladies – from Ruth Bader Ginsburg to Frida Kahlo. All materials will be provided while supplies last.

Lumos: Magical Circuit Wands
A MakeHER Mother and Daughter STEM event -- Learn about circuitry while creating a light-up Harry Potter wand! Use dowels, gumdrop LEDs and copper tape to design a circuit wand with a working switch in this maker workshop. Register in advance at SCCL.org.
Sun, Feb. 2, 2-4 p.m., Campbell Library
Sun, Feb. 16, 2-4 p.m., Gilroy Library
Sun, March 8, 2 p.m., Morgan Hill Library

Suffragettes Craft for Teens
Teens will make badges that reflect their concern for justice and equality at workshops offered by San José Public Library branches. Materials will be supplied. For date and time information, visit sjlibrary.org.
